10-3-2-1-0 Rule

A countdown to bed in five small rules, turned into your own clock times, with two weeks to see what helps.

WHY IT HELPS

Evenings drift. A coffee at four, emails at nine, a phone in bed. This sheet turns a popular bedtime countdown into times that fit your night, then lets two weeks of ticks show which parts make a difference for you.

HOW TO USE IT

Set	Write your bedtime and five cut-offs.
Tick	Tick each part you keep for 14 nights.
Review	Compare your scores and choose what to keep.

INSIDE

2	A filled-in example	3	My countdown and grid
4	A review example	5	My review

Start with the part you break most. One steady change beats five that slip by Thursday.

MY BEDTIME

10:30 pm

Write the bedtime you can keep most nights. Count back 10, 3, 2 and 1 hours and write each cut-off time.

1 My cut-off times

10	No caffeine after 10 hours before bed	12:30 pm
3	No food or alcohol after 3 hours before bed	7:30 pm
2	No work after 2 hours before bed	8:30 pm
1	No screens after 1 hour before bed	9:30 pm
0	Snooze presses Up at the first alarm	None

2 Two weeks of nights

Tick each part you kept. Score your sleep each morning, 1 poor to 5 great.
